PROGRAM

Our program speaker was PDG Chuck Cenknner who is the District 7390 Foundation Chairperson.

Chuck spoke to us about the valuable work that the Rotary Foundation accomplishes throughout the world. Chuck emphasized that when we contribute to the Foundation we become personally involved and responsible for all the good work that the Foundation does. Works such as water projects, agricultural projects, building projects, medical missions, disaster relief, polio eradication, and micro loans are initiated and managed by the Rotary Foundation. At a District level, the Foundation makes available matching grants that allow individual clubs to become involved in international projects. Also, funds from the Foundation send students throughout the world for advanced studies. Group Study Exchange is a Foundation project that sends groups of professionals throughout the world. So, to keep your soul from becoming “wrinkled with age” get involved in helping others in the world by making contributions to the Foundation and feel that you are personally making a difference.

PHILANTHROPY COMMITTEE

Robin gave a two thousand dollar check (or did she?) to Megan Shreve from SCAAP. Megan reports that much of the donation will be used to help individuals learn and train on how to start a business.

HAPPY BUCKS

- Carey Moore: had a grand time at the Brass Band Concert on Sunday and urges all to attend next year
- Barbara Ernico: donated her 50/50 winnings to the Jack Phillips Fund of the Adams County Foundation
- Lois Starkey: in appreciation of the Gettysburg Music Festival and especially the Ballet
- Christine Witherow: for the GMF Ballet
- Jim Sheen: for his handsome grandson and ten dollars in honor of his 52nd Wedding Anniversary – WOW! And still driving a snazzy MG!
- Florence Tarbox: is the proud grandparent of a new granddaughter.
- Sharon DeOms: daughter has won a Hopkins scholarship for the summer
- Ron Bailey: is happy because he is celebrating his 29th, or maybe his 27th, or maybe his 30th wedding anniversary. Good Luck, Ron.
- Scott Wehler: just returned from a cruise to Bermuda with lovely wife Connie – they are celebrating their upcoming 35th Anniversary. WOW!!
